THE CHANGING SCENE

Kantcha Ketchum

Let me tell you fellows who like to go to Pearl River fly fishing, don't go on Saturday and Sunday — skiers have taken over.

This Sunday we were there. Those skiers who are not fishermen, are liable to sink your boat. We saw at least 25 speed hulls, showing how good they can ski and showing off how good their speed boats are. We went up Pointe-aux-Les and had one guy pass our boat going about 25 miles an hour within 10 feet of our boat.

The law says skiers should not pass a skiff over 5 miles an hour. Skiing is a wonderful sport, but those doing it should have some respect for those fishing in smaller boats. Lives are in danger — fishing is spoiled and the wake from a speed hull destroys the eggs from which fish are born — If you are not a fisherman — be a gentleman and respect the rights of others. One boat had 4 skiers behind it — You can at least slow down when passing others fishing from skiffs and on the bank.

If you are not sports learn to act as one!

Pearl River has cleared perfectly and fishing for fresh water fish is at its best. Covered all the way Monday from Pearlington to Logtown and caught good green trout and perch.

Charles Klamm and August Rauxet caught their share of fresh water fish Monday up Pearl River. August and Charles know their stuff and are hard to beat with a fly rod.

Dec Elliott, Joe Kern and Larry

Larroux made a nice catch Sunday of fresh water fish at Pearl River.

Ernest Haro and nephew Paul LeBlanc were trying for speckles this week — don't know exactly what they caught.

Jimmy LeTallier, spends each weekend at the Bay — He plans to bring his boat from New Orleans and do some fishing hereabouts.

Chester Ford is repainting his boat and expects to catch up on his fishing soon. He and Judge Viosca went to the Keys one day last week and returned with a nice catch of speckles.

Mayor Scaife, Alden Mauffray and others went out on Sam Scaife's boat Monday for a trial of speckles and flounders. Don't know exactly what they caught.

A party of fishermen enjoyed a fish fry last Thursday at Comptre's Bar. Salad and fresh water fish made up the menu. There were no left over said Norman.

Dr. A. P. Smith an ardent fly fisherman has been doing pretty good. He fishes on Wednesdays and usually gets his share.

Joe Glover came over from New Orleans Tuesday and got his share of fresh water fish. He will bring his speed hull shortly and expects to do some outside fishing.

Judge Viosca and Chester Ford caught some speckles out at Telegraph Keys last week.

The competitive golf matches at Pass Christian Isles is still in progress. The local champions will be announced later.

The cold weather of last week slow down soft crabs. Several nice catches were made this weekend however.

Kenneth McCarty has had his boat put in top shape and expects to do some fishing soon. Kenneth and Dec Elliott are making a camping trip up Pearl River way Wednesday.

A trout line should produce some fresh water cat fish. Fresh

BAPTISTS TO HOST STUDENT UNION CHOIR FROM KENTUCKY

The First Baptist Church will be host to the Baptist Student Union Choir from Bowling Green, Kentucky, Wednesday, June 7, at 7:00 p.m. This choir is making its annual tour through Tennessee, Mississippi and Louisiana this year. Mr. James R. Jones, graduate of Oklahoma Baptist University, Southern Baptist Seminary School of Church Music, and at present Minister of Music water fish should also be caught, including fly fishing.

Luke Elliott and family will be down from Baton Rouge this weekend — Fresh water fish had better be on their guard.

Another lake has been added to the chain of the state-owned lakes of the Mississippi Game and Fish Commission.

John Camp, Executive Director of the Commission, said that the Fisheries Division has completed the 90-acre lake in Perry County. This lake is located about 4 miles west of Beaumont. The lake has already been stocked with bluegill and bass and will be opened to fishing next spring.

The lake building equipment of the Commission is now busy preparing the site of another lake in Jeff Davis County just south of Prentiss.

Barry Freeman, Chief of Fisheries for the Commission, said that this lake will have 164 acres of water when completed. He stated that they would probably be through with the work this fall.

Mr. Camp added that the equipment would move from Jeff Davis to Lowmes County, then to Lee County, the Henneberry Game Area, and then to Smith County under the construction schedule approved by the members of the Commission.

Amount Of Floor Space Needed For Hens Is Studied

STATE COLLEGE, Miss. — The amount of floor space required for laying hens is being studied by the Mississippi Agricultural Experiment Station. For years commercial egg producers have allowed 3 square feet of floor space per laying hen. As building cost rise, producers consider reducing this amount.

Dr. Charles H. Thomas, of the poultry department, compared three amounts of floor space in a series of tests at Mississippi State University. One group of hens had 3 square feet per bird, another 2½ and another 1½ feet. A total of 704 hens were involved in the experiment.

He found that reducing floor space from 3 feet to 2½ per bird did not affect egg production. However, egg production dropped when space was reduced to 1½ feet.

Pounds of feed required to produce a dozen eggs increased as floor space per bird decreased. Labor income per hen also decreased as space per bird decreased. On the other hand, labor income per square foot of floor space increased as more birds were crowded into the houses.

The tests are being continued, but Dr. Thomas has reported these first-year results. Details of this first-year report are published in the May issue of Mississippi Farm Research available on request from the Experiment Station at State College.

His tests also included a comparison of several strains under the various floor space conditions. He found the strain that performed best when given 3 square feet of space per bird also performed best under the more crowded conditions.

SWIMMING POOLS FAST BECOMING HOME HAZARD

A change is fast taking place on home premises that brings an accident hazard according to Dr. A. L. Gray, Executive Officer of the State Board of Health. "Slide down any suburban street and you won't notice the change. But if you over the same area and look at what is happening. Carefully hidden behind fences and shrubbery, winking like emeralds and sapphires, are thousands of backyard swimming pools, a large percentage of the brand new," said the health officer.

In all the years up to 1948 homeowners in the United States built a mere 2,500 home pools; but in 1960 alone, they installed more than 45,000.

It has become possible for almost any regularly employed homemaker to have a pool, for pools which a few years ago cost $10,000 to $20,000 can now be had for less than the price of a new car, according to Dr. Gray.

This increased use of home swimming pools points up a relatively new, extensive, and fast-expanding home accident hazard that concerns officials of the State Board of Health.

Speaking of a special problem of home pools, Dr. C. C. Knight, Director of the Accident Prevention Program, said they "endow the owner with safety responsibilities usually relegated to trained, professional pool operators and life guards."

"The inability of pool owners to cope with their new duties has shown up in the increase of home pool drownings and home pool accidents in the last few years," he stated.

The prime accident prevention responsibility rests with the pool owners, Dr. Knight pointed out. "They must voluntarily set up and enforce certain procedures and rules regarding their pools, which apply not only to their own families but to neighbors who will share the pool," he said.

He gave two precautions for small wading pools:
1. Constantly supervise youngsters using small kiddie pools — because it takes only a few seconds for a child to drown.
2. Always empty small plastic pools when children have finished playing.

Owners with built-in home pools should heed the following precautions, the accident prevention head said:
— Locate the pool near enough to the house so you can easily keep an eye on swimmers and strangers who may wander into the area.
— Fence in the pool or pool area.
— Mark off shallow and deep sections with buoy lines or other dividers.

— Always have rescue devices ready for emergencies — a ring buoy, a shepherd's crook.
— Never let anyone swim alone or without supervision.
— Be sure someone in the family has had a life-saving course and knows first aid procedure, especially artificial respiration.
— Rule out dangerous play such as running around, pushing, ducking, etc.

Don't allow hazardous objects such as bottles and silverware in the pool area.
— Sit down with your family and draw up certain safety rules for the pool's use, and see that these safety rules are enforced.

Plans Now Complete For "Twirling Institute" At University, Miss.

UNIVERSITY, Miss. — Planning is now complete for the ninth annual "Twirling Institute" to be held on the campus of the University of Mississippi, July 8 through July 14.

Again this year it is the past, the Institute will be personally directed by "Mr. Baton" himself, Don Sartell of Janesville, Wisconsin. Mr. Sartell is the Adjutant of the National Baton Twirling Association, and this will mark his ninth appearance at this week-long, yearly affair.

There will be instructions in one baton — two baton — three baton twirling, contest twirling, flag twirling, show twirling, signals, parade techniques, marching routine, aerial work, professional twirling, teaching methods, judging, contest promotion, drum majoring, fire baton twirling, majorettes squad, dance twirl methods, unison twirling routines, drum majoring, and the techniques of majoretting.

This five-day clinic is designed to meet individual needs. The beginner, intermediate, and advanced twirler will find ample instruction in all phases of twirling.

An experienced recreational director has been employed to provide a well rounded program of recreation and entertainment. Films of the Nation Twirling Contest will be shown, and a "Talent Night" show will be held in "The Grove," put on by the participants themselves.

Participants will be housed in regular University dormitories under the supervision of a trained and experienced hostess at all times.

Meals will be available in the University Cafeteria at a very nominal cost.

For further information, please direct your request to the Department of Conferences and Institutes, University, Mississippi.

Mississippi Highways

More than 8,050 miles of highways have been paved since Mississippi launched its first big road program in 1936, with almost one hundred miles of this four-lane. There are 9,230 miles of highways on the state system, and good progress is being made on the new interstate system. On the credit side of the ledger is a twenty-five year record of progress in Mississippi highway construction.

"Curse Of Werewolf" Chilling Masterpiece Of Terror, Due Here

Billed as "the world greatest director of macabre motion pictures," film director Terence Fisher, the man who made the classic screenplays — the "Dracula," "Frankenstein" and "Mummy" pictures — has done it again with "The Curse of the Werewolf," now showing on the screen of the Legion Theatre.

Mr. Fisher's latest "feast of fangs" as he calls "The Curse of the Werewolf," a Hammer production in color, and released by Universal-International, indicates a fast stardom for Oliver Reed, the 22-year-old unknown actor who plays the spine-chilling title role in the new picture.

Mr. Fisher has a particular interest in young Reed. He discovered him, gave him a small part in "The Two Faces of Dr. Jekyll," and, after a year of bit roles, got the brawny six-footer his first major screen chance as the Werewolf when he and producer Anthony Hinds selected him as the actor to portray the electrifying role.

"Our decision paid off," said Fisher, "As the tragic youngster cursed from birth with the terrifying forces of darkness that make him half man and half wolf, he gives one of the most hauntingly dramatic performances I have ever seen."

In "The Curse of the Werewolf" Oliver Reed stars with Clifford Evans, Yvonne Romain and Catherine Feller. Anthony Nelson Keys was associate producer and Michael Carreras executive producer.
